

Acropolis now: crisis as soaring visitor numbers overwhelm Greek treasure

1688920620

1688920620

Acropolis now: crisis as soaring visitor numbers overwhelm Greek treasure With cruise ships decanting thousands of tourists in Athens, tough new controls have been imposed at the country's most visited site It's official: more than 25 centuries after it was built and nearly 200 years after it began attracting tourists, the Acropolis will adopt crowd control policies to ease the very modern plague of soaring visitor numbers.